

MEDIWRAP® SURVIVAL BAG

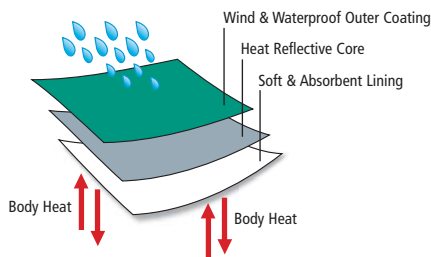

Constructed entirely from the innovative Mediwrap® textile, the Survival Bag has been designed for use in specialist search and rescue situations. Offering lightweight yet thermally retentive protection against the elements, the Survival Bag can be used by 'walking wounded', as well as seriously ill or endangered casualties. It has sleeves and a resealable opening up the front and at the feet, offering maximum warmth retention with added mobility.

- Helps maintains normothermia without additional external heat sources.
- Single use.
- Weighs only 400g so is compact and lightweight enough for any backpack or storage area.
- Hood with drawstring to protect heat loss from head.
- Fully encloses and insulates body in extreme conditions.
- Velcro front fastening for easy opening.
- Ideal for extreme or isolated conditions.
- Opens fully flat to slide or log-roll immobile victims.

The Mediwrap® Survival Bag is used by Search and Rescue Groups in many situations including mountain rescue, at sea and other extreme environments and has been recommended by the Royal Yachting Association.
